At the time the girl was in Beloit she seemed despondent.

SCORES OF LIVES ARE LOST At Least 170 Miners Perish by Fire in a Mine at Zacatecas.

City of Mexico, March 1.—The latest news from the mine disaster at Zacatecas shows the calamity fully as bad as first reported. Fire broke out in Sanamoro mine, one of the properties of the Sombrette companies, and communicated to the San Francisco mine. The principal shaft in the former is 3,000 feet deep, and a rescuing party went down to the bottom, but were nearly suffocated by smoke. The Cornish miners displayed unusual heroism in attempting the relief of the imprisoned men. Ten bodies have been taken out, and all show signs of asphyxiation. There is no longer any doubt that 170 miners perished. The city of Zacatecas is a city of mourning and consternation, this being the greatest calamity in its mines during modern times.

Heavy Blow to Spanish Pride.

London, March 1.—The Madrid correspondent of the Standard says that in order to make the Sanguilly concession less galling to the Spaniards, the Gazette, which announces his pardon, announces at the same time the settlement of some old standing claims. The government denies that the United States has made a further peremptory demand for inquiry into the death of Ruiz.

Other demands by the United States government and other governments have not been complied with, because sufficient grounds existed for sending prisoners for trial. For the future, foreign residents accused of assisting the home rule government would be summarily expelled.

SENATORS WORKING NIGHT AND DAY

PRESS OF BUSINESS COMPELS SUNDAY SESSION.

The President's Proclamation as to Forest Reservations is Overturned—Appropriation Bills Discussed—Billion Dollar Mark Has Been Reached—General Capitol News.

Washington, March 1.—The usual Sunday quiet of the capitol building was disturbed by a session of the senate, made necessary to pass the appropriation bills. By a parliamentary fiction the session was a part of the legislative day beginning Saturday.

The sundry civil appropriation bill was under consideration, a number of important items in payment of sugar bounties, for rivers and harbors, etc., remaining to be passed upon. A vote on the sugar bounty amendment was taken as soon as the session opened, and it was agreed to, 37 to 12. The amendment appropriates $1,085,156 for the balance of bounties earned from August, 1894, to June, 1895.

The river and harbor items next were considered, most of the committee amendments being agreed to as reported. Mr. Allison, in charge of the bill, explained the reasonableness of the provisions as a whole. No estimate had been submitted in the usual way for any of these items, but they were based on reports of the chief of engineers as to amounts which could be profitably used. These amounts had been reduced 25 per cent before being reported in the bill.

In the course of the discussion Senator Gorman (Md.) made an earnest speech, pointing out the enormous total of the bill and urging that it be not loaded down with new river and harbor items. The bill carried the unprecedented total of $51,000,000, of which $17,000,000 was for rivers and harbor contracts. It was more, he said, than the condition of the treasury warranted.

Another protracted contest occurred over the committee's proposition to do away with river and harbor appropriations in the sundry civil bill and directing a separate bill on these items. Mr. Vest (Mo.) said this would result in a river and harbor bill every year instead of every two years, as at present. The amendment finally went out on a point of order. The other river and harbor items were agreed to.

Mr. Morgan (Ala.), a member of the Paris court of arbitration, discussed the "awkward predicament of the United States" on the seal question. Referring to the Paris tribunal, he said that, as usual when the court was made up of European arbitrators, the decision was against us; it would always be so under like circumstances. There was more real danger of trouble over this seal question since the arbitration than there ever was from all the conflicts before arbitration was adopted. The present trouble, he said, was due to the deliberate refusal of Great Britain to carry out in good faith the spirit of the Paris award.

An extended debate occurred on an amendment offered by Mr. Clark (Wyo.), designed to counteract the president's recent order withdrawing 21,000,000 acres of land from the public domain and creating forest reservations. Mr. Clark criticized the president's order as arbitrary, saying the people of the states affected had not been consulted. It was, he said, the most serious blow aimed at the Western country since the present congress came into existence. Senators Carter (Mont.), Cannon (Utah), Pettigrew, Wilson, Dubois and Mantle also spoke in criticism, and the amendment was then unanimously adopted. It is as follows: "And all the lands in the states of Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, Montana, Washington, Idaho and South Dakota set apart and reserved by executive orders and proclamations of Feb. 22, 1897, are hereby restored to the public domain and subject to settlement, occupancy and entry under the land laws of the United States the same as if said executive orders and proclamations had not been made."

Mr. Gorman made another statement on the extravagance of the pending bill in connection with an amendment proposing a permanent census bureau. He said the bill was the largest ever passed in a time of peace, and this in the face of treasury deficiencies reaching $48,000,000 since last July. The census amendment went out on his point of order. The sundry civil bill was then passed.

BEYOND THE BILLION MARK.

Failure of Speaker Reed to Keep Down Public Expenditures.
Washington, March 1.—Speaker Reed and the other Republican leaders of the house entered upon the final session of LIVth congress with the avowed determination that no legislation which compelled great expenditures of public money should be enacted during the session. They felt compelled to adopt this policy because of the condition of the treasury, and they have generally adhered to it, although the regular appropriation bills for the support of the government have brought the total appropriations of this congress far beyond the billion mark, breaking the record of former congresses. Many of the appropriations, notably those for river and harbor im-

ARE NOT IN ACCORD AND JANGLE ENSUES

Russia Reported to Be Urging the Sultan to Take the Offensive—Greece Will Not Yield an Inch Bulgaria Ready to Invade Turkey—Some Foreign News.

London, March 1.—The Athens correspondent of the Chronicle, Mr. Henry Norman, declares that if the Turks attempt to invade Thessaly the Bulgarian government is determined to advance its troops instantly to the Aegean Sea. Macedonian forces will be raised within a few days with a view to possible contingencies. It is rumored that the secret national committee has decided to commence operations in Macedonia tomorrow.

It is quite certain that the Greek army will not be withdrawn from Crete. No communication has been received from Russia by the government of Greece.

At a conference of the representatives of the powers Sunday evening it was decided to withdraw the collective note, inviting Greece to retire her fleet and troops from Crete. A new collective note will be presented Tuesday.

The Chronicle believes that in spite of official denials Lord Salisbury did propose to France to force the passage of the Dardanelles by European fleets, with a view to deposing the Sultan.

The Sultan has sent a special envoy to invite the co-operation of the Albanians in the event of an invasion of Greece. Albania has accepted the proposal, but demands autonomy under local laws.

RUSSIA EGGING ON THE SULTAN.

Believed to Be Encouraging Him to Take the Offensive.

London, March 1.—It seems certain to the Daily Mail's correspondent at Athens that Russia is now urging the sultan to take the offensive immediately, possibly with the intention of stepping in to protect Greece in case the Turks should overrun Thessaly, but more probably with the ulterior design of seizing Constantinople.

The Daily Mail's Constantinople correspondent reports that 15,000 troops have already been removed from Asia into Europe. The railway officials cannot provide for forwarding these soldiers toward Salonica at the rate of more than 3,000 daily.

The Athens correspondent of the Daily Mail also says that a war tax is about to be proclaimed in the provinces of Thessaly and Arta. A Greek cruiser yesterday landed 100 Turkish prisoners from Crete upon Greek soil. Despite this the Turkish minister to Athens still preserves the appearance of friendly relations with the Hellenic government.

Strudivant, R. A. Young, M. Sanford & Sons, and Hancock & Clark. At 3 a. m. the building appeared to be at the mercy of the flames, and there not being an engine in the town, it looked as if the best portion of the city would be destroyed. The people were unable to communicate with Terre Haute to get assistance.

Within Reach of Millions.

Perry, O. T., March 1.—Advices from the Wichita mountains are that new discoveries of both gold and silver have caused a fresh outbreak of excitement among the prospectors, who for months have been camped on the border, and a renewed energy has been adopted by the United States authorities to prevent digging for gold. The marshals arrest any man they find on these lands. Old miners say that there is a scope of land fifty miles long and half that wide that is as rich as any gold mines in the West, California not excepted.

Pingree Holds Both Offices.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 27.—The suit brought by D. W. H. Moreland, a member of the board of public works, to oust Mayor Pingree from office was decided in favor of the governor-mayor by the Circuit Court on a technicality. Moreland's contention was that when Pingree became governor he vacated the office of mayor. The court did not touch upon this point, but held that Moreland, as a private citizen, had no right in court and should have brought his suit in the name of the attorney general. The case will be taken to the supreme court.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 1.—After a long search in the office of prothonotary of common pleas the complete record of the naturalization of Ricardo Ruiz, who was murdered in a Spanish prison, was found Saturday. The oath of citizenship was administered by a judge of common pleas court No. 3, on Jan. 21, 1880. The delay in finding the papers was caused by the fact that Ruiz had signed his full name, Ricardo Ruiz de Ugarrio, which complicated the search through the index.

Providence, R. I., March 1.—The Nottingham cotton mills here, the cotton mills of the Wauregan company, the Quinbaug company, and the Lockwood company of Wauregan, and the Danison (Conn.) mills have begun a curtailment of production. The only important bills that have so far reached the governor are those reappportioning the state for legislative purposes, and converting the state prison south into a reformatory or intermediate prison. The governor allowed the bill ousting the metropolitan police commissioners in eleven cities to become a law without his signature. The bill under which it proposed to place the benevolent institutions under partisan control has not yet been reached, and he will not say whether he will veto it.

Appeal for Indian Schools.

Washington, March 1.—A letter from Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishops Ryan and Kane, constituting a committee on Indian and negro missions, was read in all the Catholic churches Sunday. It says the contributions for these missions during the last year have been exceptionally large, but with the gradual withdrawal of government aid to the Indian schools some of the bishops report that a number of the schools may have to be closed. For this reason the cardinal and his associates on the committee expect liberal private contributions in order that the schools may be properly carried on.

AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

Prof. Vosburg, of Beaver Dam, Preached Both Morning and Evening.

Prof. J. H. Vosburg, of Beaver Dam, occupied the pulpit at the Baptist church. His subject was based upon Acts 13-36, "David after he had served his own generation, by the will of God, fell asleep."

In considering David's life we must consider when he lived he served his generation. Let us look at the life of service. It is the only dignified and true way of living. Jesus taught this by precept and example. He who came from and went to God girded himself and washed his disciples' feet. All men give Christ the greatest praise for his life of true worth.

Why does he occupy this preeminent position? Not his miracles, but because he fully exemplified and exalted the dignity of service. He spent three years in a little corner of the world in a thoroughly unselfish life of service. The ideal of perfect character is an unselfish life of service.

Judson, the first Baptist missionary, to Burma was a grand example of unselfish life of service. He sacrificed and labored and endured prison life for the good of others.

He who gets out of himself and helps others, alone develops his moral character and enjoys God's divine blessing. The man who always thinks of himself is narrow and not symmetrical.

If we would develop character we must do it in our every day living. In our kitchen and in our place of business.

Raskin taught that all men in honorable occupations ought to live a life of service in his business, give a yard 36 inches in length, and be honest in all things.

David served his generation. God has left some of the great things for us to do. Don't stand by the old way altogether, get out of the ruts and do what ought to be done now. Don't do as our fathers did, but as they would do if they were living now. Serve your own generation.

A large number attended the Y. P. S. C. E. meeting which was led by Miss Bulah Hogdon, the topic being "What Christ Saves Men From." The choir gave excellent music, giving an anthem in the morning and a beautiful duet by Prof. Taylor and Miss Palmer in the evening.

Prof. Vosburg spoke in the evening. Subject, "The Benefits of Education." The church has ever been a friend of education. Americans are friends of education. The English early recognized the education of the American people.

We spend $2.30 per capita, while the advanced nations of Europe spend twenty-five cents for education. Better to spend money for education than for standing armies. Education is a harmonious and symmetrical development of all the powers of man. Every child is a few pounds of possibilities. Twenty-five dollars' worth of pig iron worked up into watch springs is worth $980. Man is born into the world in the pig iron state; to what may he be developed? Education cannot bring out that which is not in a man, but do not be too quick to judge that there is nothing in a child. The dull boy who cannot remember all the dates of history, may become a highly developed man.

Education will greatly enlarge the world in which a man lives. Dollars and cents do not give the value of education. The newspaper tells us what happened yesterday; our ancestors did not have those advantages. See what education will do for the boy or girl of today. Education elevates the pleasures of a man. Amusements are not the end of man, but we must know them, and what our pleasures are, show what we are and what we will develop into. It gives us something to think about and helps the boy or girl to pass the danger point of life.

Education helps us to make a success of life. Making money is not all of life. Statistics show that education helps men to attain success. Education is power and it may be used for great good. Parents educate your children. Boys and girls get an education. Work for it and you will get it, and it will be worth all you put in to it.

SENATOR WHITEHEAD'S ADDRESS

Speaks to Milwaukee Young Men On the Life of Christ.

Senator J. M. Whitehead of Janesville, state president of the Y. M. C. A., addressed the young men's meeting at the Milwaukee association building on Fourth street yesterday afternoon on the "Recognition of Jesus." A choir of small boys helped in the singing under the leadership of Secretary C. B. Willis.

Mr. Whitehead began by briefly sketching the story of the baptism of Jesus in the Jordan by John the Baptist, as related in the first chapter of John. In spite of the fact that Jesus had come with numerous o' hers who had opportunities of recognizing Him, John was the only one who saw who He was. He recognized Him at once and announced him to those gathered about. This seemed to point accurately to the work of the Y. M. C. A. It was to recognize Jesus and to point Him out to others. It was the work that was needed in Milwaukee, in the other cities and towns of the state and in all the states. The Y. M. C. A. was an association of you men come together because of a common recognition of Jesus and this means a good deal. In fact, the effectiveness and the blessedness of His work in the world was made possible by the fact that young men and other people recognized Him now as John did back in bible times. The great thing about it was the recognition. It depended not on Him but on us and on our holding Him up to others. Jesus was more readily recognized today than in the time he was baptized. Everyone had an opportunity to recognize Him and it was hard to estimate the work that would be accomplished if the 300,000 young men of Wisconsin all recognized Him. And Jesus had said to his disciples that they would do more than He had done. This being so, it was bewildering to contemplate the greatness of the result if all the young men of the state were Christians. It waited for the young men to take hold, it waited for them to begin, and if they did begin, they would surely recognize Jesus just as John did. Then they would feel the consciousness of a great power and realize the fruits of a great undertaking. He hoped they would rejoice in the opportunity. Before the close of the meeting a collection was taken up for the work out in the borders of the state, in the small new towns where Christians were few, a collection for this purpose being taken up annually.

AT THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Rev. Robert C. Denton Preaches on The Results of Sin.

Rev. Robert C. Denton spoke on "The Results of Sin," at the Congregational church yesterday, taking his text from Judges 16:21.

"And the Philistines laid hold on him and put out his eyes and they brought him down to Gaza and bound him with fetters of brass; and he did grind in the prison house."

These words present the picture of a man ruined by his sin. It is an awful thing for sin to destroy even the poorest and weakest man but we see it at its worst when it lays its hand upon a man so great in powers and reputation as Samson was.

Yesterday, Samson was a free man at peace with himself, and his God, and honored by his countrymen. The text shows him a slave to his enemies, filled with bitter memories of the people he had sacrificed. The God he had outraged, the character he had forfeited. We notice the results of Samson's sin. It seemed a safe and pleasant thing for him to tell Delilah the secret of his strength. What harm could she do him? He could crush her at a blow. But she was not alone. Behind her chamber curtains were the armed hosts of the Philistines. So every kind of sin brings its friends with us. All evil habits keep close company. To let in the first innocent sin is to make way for many stronger enemies. The second result of Samson's sin was that it took the best he had, his sight and his liberty. Sin will not take what we call sin but robs us of our best, our self respect, our insight into truth, our peace and freedom of mind. And then when it has taken a man's best sin will not give what it promised as reward. It was for the love of Delilah that Samson sold his soul, and now he could not even see her. The Philistine beauty had no smiles for the poor toiler in the prison. Sin promises pleasure and gives pain. It promises power and gives unrest.

This is the story of Samson's sin. Is there no more to be said, must we leave him here? No, thank God, we can repent. In answer to Samson's repentance God gave him back his strength and he destroyed his enemies. This is a crude old testament story, but its truth is eternal. When a man repents of his sin and fixes his faith on Christ, God gives him back his strength. God pours his love and life into the world in the cross of Christ, and though sin is awful, when we realize that behind it in the cross is infinite love and power of the Eternal God we cannot doubt which will ultimately triumph.

AT THE COURT STREET M. E. CHURCH.

Rev. Dr. Halsey Preaches on The Subject of Loyalty.

"Church Loyalty" was the subject of the prelude at the Court Street M. E. church yesterday morning. Rev. Dr. Halsey defined loyalty as meaning more than obedience. Loyalty to a church meant an interest in all of its ordinances and services inspired by love for the church.

The membership of a church should be loyal their own church, not because of the music or the pastor but because of the interest that all true worshippers should feel in their own church home.

The sermon was based on a few verses from the second chapter of the first Peter, the eulogy of the apostle on Jesus the Son of God.

The church has distinctive characteristics that are important and that differ widely from other organizations. Rituals, forms and ceremonies are many of them beautiful and vital to the life of any organization, but in addition to these the church of God must be endowed with spirituality or it will be ineffective and of but little benefit to humanity. The word of God is the foundation of His church and God Himself is described as the vine and the church as the branches. "In the world but not of it." To the church of God in all ages the world is indebted for the best thought. The world respects the church in the hour of death if at no other time.

Holiness is another characteristic peculiar to the church of God. Other societies have good aims, but holiness is reserved to the true sensibilities of God's people.

The coming glory of the church is royalty. The children of God are in the line of royal descent. This is a good thing to remember in the hour of trouble, inheritors of crowns that are as enduring as eternity. John's vision on the isle of Patmos, was more than a dream and the inheritance in sight has been realized by the people of God as truly as it came to John when he crossed the boundary line of time.

Nobility also crowns God's people, whatever their earthly condition. From the time of Moses and David to the present time the birth-right of royalty and nobility has been a perpetual inheritance. We should be careful not to sell it for pleasure, for money, for honor or any other worldly possessions. Children of the King should be watchmen of the church of God.

AT THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The Pastor, Rev. E. H. Pence, Speaks of "The Lifted Christ."

Rev. E. H. Pence, in his sermon at the Presbyterian church yesterday morning, chose for his subject, "The Lifted Christ," taking for his text, "When ye have lifted up the Son of Man, then shall ye know that I am He," John 8:28. We can trace a time, as we read Jesus' life when a great, gaunt shadow fell across his path. And as we see as we look into his face that he knew what it meant, and that way ahead he could see the cross. But there never is a shadow without light, and Jesus knew that the light which cast the shadow came from His Father's face. But the shadows were all on this side of the cross; beyond all was light.

We secure from the sun only a small fraction of its light, but if a ray of sunlight means so much to us over ninety million miles away, what must be its meaning upon its edge? If the world has gotten meaning enough out of that cross to save it, what must be the meaning of it to Jesus? It meant more than mere physical death. On the cross Jesus was lifted up. He was hung there by men who in thus killing him little knew that it was impossible for him to die. They have proved conclusively to the world that he was spotless. The human artist adopts light and shade to our vision. The divine artist used the blackened hearts of those murderers upon which to show the glorious vision of a spotless Jesus.

Jesus there upon the cross was assaulted by every weapon known to man to cleave and reach the inner soul, and yet no human weapon wounded him. The blood of Jesus' soul was not shed by human weapons. He seemed oblivious to every taunt, and even his hacked body seemed forgotten, and yet Jesus never lost consciousness of his surroundings, for here and there comes from his lips some word which shows him still with finger upon the throbbing heart of that great throng. In Gethsemane and on the cross, Jesus struck into his own heart the javelins.

Jesus was lifted up to a moral height at which men had not before known him. At first men ranked Jesus and the Pharisees together. Each was a teacher of truth as he conceived it to be, they supposed. But when the cross came, the chasm widened; Jesus was lifted up when they confessed their real motive in persecuting him.

Jesus was not lifted up in our eyes until we have confessed to self our selfishness and selfishness and sin. And only when he is lifted up does our knowledge of self become a matter of feeling. Now will Jesus Christ draw unto himself, until he is lifted so high that we feel how deep is the depth in which we have fallen. Not until you have lifted him, have your eyes looked upon the grandest object seen in this life.

HOWE MURDER CASE NEARING THE END

MAY FINISH TESTIMONY THIS AFTERNOON.

Experts Do Not Agree as to Whether Or Not the Defendant Wrote the Note Found Pinned on His Brother's Breast—Brothers Were Friendly.

Elkhorn, March 1.—The Howe murder case is nearing its end. The state rested Saturday morning. The defense then began taking testimony and may conclude this afternoon. The first testimony introduced was that establishing the previous good character of the defendant, and six prominent citizens of Darien testified that he had always been a good, peaceable and law-abiding citizen. Witnesses were also produced who saw the pistol, with which the alleged murder is said to have been committed, examined and cleaned on the day following the finding of the body, and swore that the cloth which was pushed through the barrel contained iron rust, and that the pistol could not have been fired for some time previous. The defense also produced a revolver which was found near the scene of the crime about six months afterwards, and which was identified and claimed by Frank Wilson of the town of Darien.

The principal witness of the day was Warren Drake of Chicago, an expert on handwriting counterfeiting and kindred subjects. He said that he had examined the note found on the dead body, the three copies of the same written by Roy Howe from the dictation of District Attorney Sumner, and also the letter written by the accused to Mrs. Wittemore, and gave "it as his judgment that the writing on the note found on the dead man was not that of Roy Howe, and differed materially from the writing on the other papers."

A. C. Hutchinson, an expert accountant of Chicago, also was sworn and pronounced the writing on the three papers in question not to be that of the same handwriting. Their testimony was directly in contradiction of that of H. L. Tolman, the expert witness for the state. The father and several close neighbors testified that the relations between the two brothers was more than ordinarily close, and they were in each other's company all the time possible. There was no difference between them as far as known.

The interest in the case is still intense and the court room is crowded over with spectators including a large number of ladies long before the time for opening.

THE VAUDEVILLE DREW WELL.

Rockford Papers Praise the Performance to Be Seen Here.

The Rockford Republic says: "The nipping cold weather of last evening was not severe enough to quell the sentiment which is growing daily for vaudeville attractions. The theater was well filled with patrons to hear the National Vaudeville, embracing a number of excellent artists. The Grayson sisters were the favorites of the bill, gaining applause for their pleasing songs and dances, their airy capers and vivacious chic. Billy Link convulsed the audience again with his negro witticism, the couple, Gale and Trumbull, entertained with good effect, and Gus Bruno told funny dialect stories. The Randalles, grotesque and acrobatic dancers, were encouraged in their clever numbers and reasonably applauded in slow places. Banks Winters, the well known author of "White Wings," sang two solos, and Miss Willette Chastens rendered a ballad, Cloud and Kershaw sang Irish songs, satirized and danced, throwing off quaint drolleries. Chinese Johnny Williams and the amatecosque concluded the entertainment. Tonight's bill is the last. The company is far above the ordinary vaudeville." Prices 10 20 and 30 cents.

SMALL PROFIT IN OPERA.

Committee Settle With Director Webster

---Receipts $250, Expenses $190.

The Citizens Committee, under whose auspices the opera Erwinne was given last week have not yet reported, but The Gazette understands that the profits were so small that the committee decided that Mr. Webster the director, should be entitled to all of it.

The gross receipts were about $250 and the expenses about $190. If the $60 net profit had been divided Mr. Webster's share would not be sufficient to pay his leading soprano, who is employed by him at a salary. A very ordinary mathematician will see that Mr. Webster has not added much to his stock of wealth in the venture.

The leading characters in the opera devoted two weeks of time and hard work without pay. They are frank to admit that the success attained is due entirely to the intelligent and untiring efforts of Mr. Webster and his able assistant, Miss Salisbury. The Associated Charities had nothing to do with the enterprise and it was a mistake to advertise it in their name. The Citizens Committee appointed by the mayor to solicit funds for the poor was the channel through which Mr. Webster worked. It is to be regretted that the opera did not play to full houses, so that the committee could have had a liberal sum for distribution. Mr. Webster is one of the best directors that ever appeared in Janesville and he is in no way responsible for the financial results. The committee was simply honorable in settling with him. If any one has cause for complaint it is the newspaper who devoted advertising space for charity.

It Was a Desert.

A mother was assisting her little boy with his geography when he came to the word "desert," which he could not understand. His mother explained it was a barren place—a place where nothing would grow. The boy's face brightened up at her words, and, feeling sure that he had solved the difficulty, she asked him to explain the meaning, and the prompt answer came:

"Ma feyther's bald head!"—Scottish Nights.

Compelled to Economize.

Mrs. Hicks—I see that there is going to be an auction of the Wentworths' furniture to-day. Don't you think I had better go and see if I can pick a table for the parlor? You know we said last night we needed one.

Mr. Hicks—Yes, so we do; but I guess you had better go and get one at the stores. Times are pretty hard just now, and we really can't afford to pay auction prices.—Somerville Journal.

Even in the Dovecote.

The male bird grumbled as he clutched his perch with a firmer hold, and said to his mate: "Don't come so close! Your feet are awfully cold!"

—Chicago Tribune.

AN INTERNAL REVOLUTION.

The Goat Below—You seem distressed. The Other One—And well I may be. I've eaten 20 pages of a Scotch dialect story.—N. Y. Times.

A Winter Paradox.

"Tis vain the art to cultivate,

For he will choose—oh, thoughtless man—

The pretty girl who cannot skate

And slight the plainer one who can.

—Washington Star.

Helpless.

Wittimuff—Poor fellow! He held the championship in heavy-weight pugilism for some years, then he was incapacitated by an operation.

Fistieuff—Amputated one of his arms, I suppose?

Wittimuff—No, his tongue.—Philadelphia Press.

His Repertoire.

"Have you learned any fancy methods of skating?" asked the young woman.

"No," replied Willie Washington, "I can skate only two ways."

"Which are they?"

"Standing up and sitting down."—Washington Star.

Just Between Friends.

Miss Older—Men must be growing more polite. I get seats in street cars much oftener than I did a few years ago.

Miss Cutting—Well, it's a mighty mean man that will let an old lady stand!—N. Y. Journal.

Not Entirely Painless.

Dentist—Did you give that man laughing gas?

Assistant—Yes.

Dentist—How long did the effect last?

Assistant—Until he looked at the bill!—Town Topics.

Sure Thing.

"Bluffer says that he was a good deal put out at your meeting last night."

"I should say he was. We kicked him to the head of the stairs and then fired him down bodily."—Detroit Free Press.

Merely a Hint.

He—Nature abhors a vacuum.

She—Yes, but nature probably never sat up all night, hoping, every time she yawned, that he would take the hint.

Then he grabbed his hat and went.—Cleveland Leader.

Accounting for It.

"I see the statisticians have discovered that two-thirds of the male suicides are bachelors."

"Undoubtedly; when a man's married he isn't even free to kill himself."—Chicago Journal.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

provements and for public buildings, were necessary to continue works authorized by other congresses.

Several important bills are in the president's hands awaiting his action, foremost among them the immigration bill, which establishes an educational test for immigrants and bars out laborers who maintain their homes in other countries. The anti-scalping bill and the bill for the reorganization of the Atlantic & Pacific railroad company are also on the President's desk.

Senate Is Crowded with Work.

Washington, March 1.—Only four days more remain for the fifty-fourth Congress to wind up its business and make way for its successor. The close of the session promises no sensational incidents, for only routine business is possible. As usual the House awaits the end with a clean slate. It has finished its work on the big appropriation bills, with which the Senate is now struggling. The House will sit merely to receive and act upon conference reports with probably night sessions Tuesday and Wednesday. It will take skillful generalship, but the Senate leaders believe they will have the slate clear Thursday.

ALARM IN BRAZIL.

Absence of News from the Troops Causes Uneasiness.

Rio Janeiro, Brazil, March 1.—Great anxiety is felt by the government as to events in the state of Bahia.

No news has been received from the federal troops engaged in an attempt to suppress the fanatics under Conselheiro since yesterday. If the army should be conquered by the rebels it is feared that the monarchists faction would immediately take advantage of the defeat and cause the press of Rio Janeiro to demand that the government give orders that no new attack be made upon the fanatics until the arrival of strong re-enforcements in Bahia.

The commercial situation in Brazil is reported to be serious. Business is very dull.

The Argentine government has ordered the mobilization of the national guard for extended maneuvers. They will last sixty days.

HARVEST OF DEATH FOR A SINGLE DAY

MRS. M. L. RICHARDSON IS SUMMONED HOME.

Pneumonia Was the Cause of Her Demise—Mrs. Ensign is No More—Martin Howe, a Footville Pioneer Called to Rest—Other Mortuary Mention.

Mrs. M. L. Richardson died last evening at 9:30 o'clock at her home, No. 381 St. Mary's avenue, the cause of her demise being pneumonia.

Mrs. Richardson was one of Janesville's oldest and most respected residents. Her early life was spent in Vermont, and in 1885 she came west and located in Janesville. Then the surrounding country was a comparative wilderness. She was a woman loved and respected by all who knew her. If she had lived until next April she would have attained the ripe old age of seventy-five years. Her husband died last year, and one adopted son—J. F. Willey of this city—is left to mourn her death.

The funeral will be held from the house Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. V. E. Southworth will officiate and the interment will be held at Oak Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Harriet Ensign.

After a lingering illness, during which her sufferings were patiently borne, Mrs. Harriet Ensign died yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. E. Johnson, 215 Terrace street. A complication of diseases brought on by old age, were the causes of her demise. She was seventy-nine years of age. Mrs. Ensign was born in Hamburg, Erie county, New York, and for the past forty years she had made this country her home. Three children are left to mourn her death, Mrs. H. E. Johnson and E. B. Ensign of this city, and B. M. Ensign of Fergus Falls, Minn. The funeral will be held from the Terrace street home tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and the interment will be in Oak Hill. Friends desiring to view the remains may do so between 11 and 12 o'clock tomorrow forenoon.

Miss Ellen Egan.

Miss Ellen Egan for many years a resident of this city, died at Milwaukee Friday, and the remains were brought to Janesville for interment Saturday evening, the funeral having been held at Milwaukee.

Miss Egan made her home with the family of Ferdinand Quinn, in this city for many years, but of late had resided in Milwaukee. Henry S. Quinn of Whitewater, and Fred A. Quinn of Elgin, sons of Ferdinand Quinn and nephews of Miss Egan were here to attend the funeral. Miss Egan was ninety years of age.

Martin Howe.

Martin Howe, an old resident of Footville, died at that place yesterday afternoon at 5:45 o'clock, aged seventy-eight years. He leaves two sons, George Howe of Baraboo, Delbert Howe of Chippewa Falls; and two daughters, Miss Lizzie Howe of Footville, and Miss Maggie Howe, Elgin. The funeral will be held from St. Augustine's church, Footville, at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, and the remains will be brought to Oak Hill for interment.

Elida Myrtle Hall.

Elida Myrtle Hall, the three months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Hall of Johnstown, died Sunday at the home of her parents. The demise occurred at 8 o'clock p. m. The funeral will be held from the home on Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

The regular meeting of the church committee will be held at the parsonage this evening.

The Ladies Benevolent society will meet at the church parlors on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

NO ST. PATRICK'S DAY PARADE

The Regular Services To Be Held at the Church.

St. Patrick's day will be celebrated in this city on March 17, but no bands will play, and there will be no parade. Hard times given as the reason for the observing of the day in such a quiet way. Plans were made at a meeting held yesterday afternoon in Columbia hall. Those present were J. H. Conley, James Sheridan, and John Kefferman, representing the A. O. H. division No. 1; and Isaac Connors, Edward Ryan and F. Sughra of Division No. 3. Members of both societies will march to St. Patrick's church in the morning, where mass will be celebrated, and in the evening a private musical and literary programme will be given in Columbia hall.

BRING NOVEL SUIT AGAINST THE CITY

EDGERTON WOMAN TALKS OF AN ACTION.

Mrs. Sutton, Whose Husband Died After Being Shot by a Policeman, May Claim Damages—Charles Folsom Gets a Judgement Against His Father-in-law, Giles Burt.

An interesting lawsuit is likely to be tried in this city soon, and the decision of the court will be of value inasmuch as it will of necessity define the rights of police officers, and the liability of the cities employing them.

Some months ago, an officer at Edgerton arrested several men who were alleged to have been making a disturbance on the street. After starting for the lockup with his prisoners, the officer claims he was attacked by a party of friends of the alleged culprit, and an attempt was made to rescue the accused.

In the fracas that followed, George Sutton was shot by the officer, and also had his leg broken. Four weeks later he died of his injuries, and his wife has been here to consult attorneys with the idea of bringing a suit against the city to recover damages because of her husband's death.

Sutton was a leaf tobacco dealer, and was well known. At the time of the shooting, public sentiment seemed to be with the officer.

FOLSON GETS $150 FROM BURT.

Clinton Man Gets Judgment Against His Father-in-law.

Because of the decision made by Justice Richardson, Charles Folsom who is now in jail charged with arson, is richer to the extent of $150, and the money will come from his father-in-law, Giles Burt, whose barn Folsom is charged with burning.

Last summer Folsom worked for Burt, buying and selling of hay which he baled and packed for shipment.

The baling process required much help, and it is claimed by Folsom that his father-in-law engaged him to bss the job. At the end of the season, Folsom says, when the settlement was to be made, Burt refused to pay him. Burt claimed that he had already settled with Folsom. Folsom then hired Mahoney & Cunningham, and they commenced suit in Justice Richardson's court, the decision being in the plaintiff's favor.

A FINE FARM HOME GOES UP IN SMOKE

HOT FIRE RAGED AT JOHNSTOWN CENTER.

Residence of Mrs. D. L. Randall Totally Destroyed as the Result Of the Accidental Upsetting of An Oil Stove—The Loss is $3,000 and The Insurance But $500.

The accidental tipping over of an oil stove at the residence of Mrs. D. L. Randall at Johnstown Center Saturday afternoon caused a $3,000 blaze.

Mrs. Randall lighted the burner on the stove at 3 o'clock p. m. and placed it in one of the bed rooms on the second floor for the purpose of warming the room. It is said that she then made an attempt to move the stove to another section of the room when it was accidentally upset and the oil ignited. In an instant the floor was enveloped in a sheet of flames but Mrs. Randall places her loss at $3,000 and she has but $500 insurance.

Reuben Austin, a man ninety years of age, and the father of Mrs. Randall, rushed up the stairs and dashed a pail of water into the fire. This only helped to make matters worse. By this time, the upper portion of the house was all afire, and the neighbors and the family started in to save the furniture on the first floor. In this they were successful but every article on the upper floors was burned with the dwelling which was leveled to the ground. Mrs. Randall places her loss at $3,000 and she has but $500 insurance.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

THE COUNTRY'S ONLY PRACTICAL
WOMAN CIVIL ENGINEER.

Overheated Living Rooms—Woman and Ambition—Fancy Jackets—Women Conducted the Meeting—Opera Bonnets. Denim Makes Way For Ticking.

Marion S. Parker enjoys the unique distinction of being the only practical woman civil engineer in this country. She is a slight young girl, apparently about 20 years of age, and has a womanly, gracious manner that makes her very charming. Miss Parker seems quite unconscious of the fact that her peculiar position as the one woman in her profession makes her interesting.

"Really, there isn't anything to tell," she replied to an inquiry. "I made up my mind to be a civil engineer, studied for it and am now working hard for promotion. It was the most natural thing in the world, for I just followed my inclinations. I wouldn't do anything else."

"At first," she continued, "I thought to study architecture, for plans and designs have always had a great attraction for me. Then, as I became more and more interested in mathematics, I realized that something involving that branch of science would be more to my liking. Civil engineering was just the thing, so at 15 I began earnest preparation."

"Did you have any difficulty in getting such an education?" I asked.

"Not in the least. My father is a graduate of Ann Arbor, and I concluded to go there for instruction. I prepared, matriculated and was admitted to the regular course in civil engineering, just as though I were a man. You know at Ann Arbor all the courses are open to women, and they couldn't deny my application. It is coeducational in every sense of the word.

"I took the regular course," she went on, "except that in the senior year I substituted architectural work for surveying. I preferred it only because I thought the other would do me more good."

"Wasn't it difficult to obtain a position?" I asked.

"Well, I was extremely fortunate," said Miss Parker. "I had anticipated a great deal of trouble, knowing I should have to contend with an enormous amount of prejudice, and that practically I should have to struggle for even the slightest foothold. However, Mr. Purdy offered me a position either in the New York or the Chicago office. I was given the same salary that is given to men doing the same work and had equal chances of advancement. Two weeks after I had graduated, in July, 1895, I was at work."

"What would you say the necessary qualifications are for women who wish to take up the same business?"

"First of all, to make a success of such a career, a woman must be thoroughly and naturally fond of mathematics, not merely algebra, etc., but applied mathematics and the like. Civil engineering is really the application of pure mathematics to construction. Then, too, a woman must be willing to work with all the little intricate and complex details that are part of mathematical service. She must be careful, accurate and patient. The whole system is made up of trifles, to be sure, but if every trifling detail is not exact and perfect serious accidents may occur."—Boston Globe.

Overheated Living Rooms.

Do you keep your sitting room hermetically sealed during the winter? Do you shiver and pile more coals on the furnace and bundle yourself up in a zephyr shawl whenever a colder wave is prophesied? Do your registers give forth constant blasts of hot air or your steam fairly blister the garments of those who pass by? If these things are so, then it is unnecessary to ask if you have constant colds, indigestion, that famous tired feeling, an annual attack of the grip and a household of ailing children.

The reason why so many American women overheat their houses and pave the way for their physicians to make fortunes is that they are accustomed to pass a part of their time in the kitchen, where culinary necessities put a wholesome temperature quite out of the question. When they have finished their tasks in this department, the tired and overheated housewives turn to the other rooms to find them "cold." They are cold only by comparison, but it would be difficult to make one believe it. The consequence is the register is opened or the fire stirred up until the sitting room is as warm as the kitchen, and the habit of overheating, coming down from the days of huge wood piles and roaring chimney places, projects itself into the age of double windows, steam heating apparatus and redhot coal stoves.

A little thought and experimenting will work a reform in many households, to the increased comfort and health of its inmates and to the advantage of the coal bin and the wood pile. In these days of dear fuel and cheap thermometers the latter should be indulged in until the temperature of overheated apartments, public and private, is reduced to Dangers of the Grip.

The greatest danger from La Grippe is of its resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for La Grippe, we have to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that this remedy is a certain preventive of that dread disease. It will effect a permanent cure in less time than any other treatment. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale at C. D. Stevens' Pharmacy, Corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

VARIOUS NOTES.

Skirts Straight In Front—Importance of the Children's Gaiters.

Bodies of tailor made gowns are generally close fitting, with a loose plastron of a different material and color. At present it is the bodice affecting the form of the applique bolero, square or round, which is preferred, with the full blouse in front and a wide belt, most often black, of ribbon wound many times around the waist.

Skirts are flat in front and at the sides, all the fullness being thrown to the back, where it forms three or five godets, according to the wearer's figure and the material employed. The circumference of the skirt ranges from four to five yards.

Very few pockets are seen in jackets, what there are being usually concealed under a fold or trimming.

The shoes and slippers worn with evening costume must now match the gown in color.

Children, both boys and girls, who are not perfectly robust should always wear gaiters when going out of doors in cold weather. There is no reason why the head and the upper part of the body should be carefully protected from chill while the legs, from the knees downward, are no more warmly covered in the open air than indoors. Children who are equally well protected from head to foot are much less liable to colds and croup than those who are not.

Combinations of blue and green are still very much a la mode and are often very charming. In pale tones the suggestion is of reflections in limpid water, while in the deep ones the colors of the peacock seem to be repeated. With black the strong green and blue effects are especially happy. Not quite so satisfactory is the never combination of violet and pale blue, but it is a novelty and therefore to be chronicled.

Today's illustration shows a tailor made costume of beige cloth. The skirt has godets at the back, while on the left side are three stitched folds ornamented with buttons of cut silver. The bodice is plain in the back, while in front there is a yoke of cashmere embroidered silk, over which the cloth is arranged in three diagonal folds decorated with buttons. The close cloth sleeves are divided near the top over a puff of cashmere silk. The soft belt is of pink velvet, and a bow of pink velvet is placed on the right shoulder. The collar and wrist frills are of white lace.

NEW JACKETS.

Trimmed With Fur and Military Braid. Little Girl's Coat.

Jackets are much altered from last season's models. No more godets are seen on the hips and only two or three very slight ones at the back, a little below the waist. Jackets are also shorter than they were, the basque falling very little below the hips. The front is straight, as a rule, without darts and buttoning in the middle or at the side. The back is very close fitting, however, having a seam in the middle or being cut whole, according to fancy. Revers have disappeared up to the collar, which to be fashionable must be high and flaring. Sometimes it is turned down upon itself in the form of seal laps, tabs or a plain band. The collar may be cut separately and sewed on the garment or may be cut in one with it. Novelty demands that it shall be lined with fur, mouton, chinchilla, ermine and other light kinds being preferred.

The sleeves are close to a point well above the elbow, above which there is a moderate fullness. When the sleeve is in one piece—that is, without an outside seam—it is necessarily less tight than when it is in two pieces. It is ornamented to match the body of the jacket.

Straight sacks show the same effects in collars and sleeves, although the latter are sometimes loose, gathered into a deep cuff at the wrist. The sack itself is most often laid in two or three plaits back and front.

The sketch shows a little girl's coat for demiseason. It is of red and black mixed cloth and is mounted in deep plaits on a yoke of black velvet. At the two front corners of the yoke are bows of velvet fastened by paste buckles. The sleeves have cuffs of black velvet and are also ornamented with coquilles of the cloth. The collar and ruche are of black velvet.

GEN. WEYLER TO QUIT.
Reported to Have Forwarded His Resignation to Spain.
New York, March 1.—A special dispatch from Havana to the Herald says:
"I am informed on the very highest authority that Captain General Weyler has forwarded his resignation to the Spanish government at Madrid. The captain general, I am also informed, will leave the island as soon as possible, probably in about three weeks.
"This decisive step General Weyler determined to make, my authority says, as soon as he heard of the release of Julio Sanguily. The captain general has frequently said that he would resign if the crown should interfere with his policy in regard to the prisoners, especially Americans, and he was incensed, I am told, beyond measure at being ignored in the negotiations carried on by the Spanish government in the case of the notable captive, Sanguily, who was released on Friday.
"It is reported that General Ramon Blanco y Arenas, the marquis of Pena Plata, may be appointed to succeed General Weyler."

Report Is Denied.
Havana, March 1.—It is officially announced that the statement to the effect that Captain General Weyler has resigned is absolutely false.

Narrow Escape from Death.
Chicago, March 1.—Unguarded approaches to the open draw of the Twelfth street bridge permitted an accident in which six persons had a narrow escape from death at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. A trolley car ran down the approach and was precipitated over the edge, dashing a horse and wagon into the river before it. A stone projection a few feet below the road stopped the fall of the car and held it tilted over the water twenty-five feet below. Three passengers, the conductor and motorman of the car and the driver of the wagon saved their lives by a wild scramble at the edge of the precipice.

Monetary Committee to Meet.
Indianapolis, Ind., March 1.—Hugh Hanna, chairman of the monetary committee, says the first meeting of that committee will be called in Washington as soon as the special session of congress, which will be held in March, shall have convened. This meeting of the committee will, it is expected, be an important one, and an outline of the work will be laid out. The committee will place before congress the necessity of authorizing the president to appoint a financial commission to devise a monetary system for the country.
